Gmail steve todman <steve.todman@gmail.com>

IARC Live Rating Notice: Task Organiser

1 message

IARC Content Ratings <noreply@globalratings.com> 9 October 2026 at 13:58

IARC Live Rating Notice

Global Rating ID:	6c8bd8b9-cbf9-8757-8ba0-3fa60ee1fb63
Product Title:	Task Organiser	Company:	litdev1
Rating Date:	Friday, October 9, 2026	Storefront:	Google Play

You are receiving this notice because you submitted a questionnaire to IARC on Friday, October 9, 2026. Ratings generated from that questionnaire are now live.

These ratings may only be used on digital storefronts that have licensed IARC (list here) and cannot be used on any physical product or on any storefront that has not licensed IARC.

To use these ratings on another storefront that has licensed IARC, enter the Global Rating ID above when you are asked for a Global Rating ID or an IARC Certificate ID during that storefront's product onboarding process.

Additional information about the rating authorities participating in IARC can be found here.

If any of the ratings generated by IARC for your product appear to be incorrect, you may request a rating check here. Prior to requesting a rating check, please confirm that the IARC questionnaire was filled out correctly for your product. It will take 1-3 business days to begin a rating check and the process may require you to submit additional materials.

These ratings were generated by IARC and terms for their use are included below.

Live Rating Notice Terms

Last Update: April 8, 2024

1. IARC will generate or has generated ratings for your product on the condition that you agree and comply with all of these terms. If you do not agree to comply with all of these terms, then you may not use or display any ratings generated by IARC.
2. You agree that your responses to the IARC questionnaire, which IARC uses to generate ratings for your product, are complete, accurate, and take into account all content in your product.
3. Ratings generated by IARC may only be used on digital storefronts that have licensed IARC (list here) and cannot be used on any physical product or on any storefront that has not licensed IARC.
4. Ratings generated by IARC may only be used for the product for which they are generated and for subsequent changes and additions to that product (e.g., updates, add-ons, downloadable content) that would not change the questionnaire responses originally provided by the developer concerning that product.
5. If subsequent changes or additions to your product (e.g., updates, add-ons, downloadable content) would change your questionnaire responses concerning your product, then you must complete the IARC questionnaire again and receive new ratings generated by IARC for your product.
6. If you believe a rating generated by IARC for your product is incorrect, you may request a rating check directly from the corresponding rating authority by using the "request a rating check" link provided upon the product's release.
7. The rating authority for each region may revise the rating for your product for its region if it determines that such rating is not appropriate for the product.
8. If a rating generated by IARC is revised, you and storefronts that have licensed IARC will be notified and required to update the rating wherever it is displayed (e.g., product pages, advertising, websites, social media).
9. The ratings generated by IARC are trademarks of the respective rating authorities and may only be used to inform consumers about the content, age-appropriateness, and interactive elements of the product rated.
10. For the benefit of consumers, participating rating authorities strongly encourage you to use the ratings generated by IARC on all advertising and marketing materials, subject to the IARC Advertising and Marketing Guidelines.
11. You acknowledge that the ratings generated by IARC do not imply or guarantee your compliance with the rules, laws, or regulations applicable to the advertising, marketing, or sale of your product in any region or jurisdiction.

12. These terms have been prepared in English; translations are provided for informational purposes only. In the event of a conflict or inconsistency between versions of these terms, the English-language version shall prevail and be binding.

In addition to these Terms, you also agreed to be bound by the IARC Terms of Use.